WANT TO COME IN

DISTRICT NORTH AND WEST OF GLENDALE IS SEEKING ANNEXATION

An adjourned meeting of the Glendale City Trustees was held Monday evening at which several unfinished matters of business were disposed of.

One item was the passage of the ordinance read at the Thursday evening session amending the ordinance providing for an issue of bonds of $17,000 for fire apparatus, the amendment making provision for the payment of interest in gold instead of "legal money" of the United States. This issue of bonds has been sold to R. H. Moulton & Co. of Los Angeles at par, and will be delivered today, Tuesday.

A fresh item of interest was brought up by the City Clerk, who reported the filing with his office of a notice of intention to circulate a petition asking the trustees to call an election for the annexation to Glendale of certain territory west and north of the city. It was signed by eleven property owners and residents of the district and will probably take in all the territory remaining south of San Fernando boulevard and west to Grand View avenue.

On motion of Trustee Shaw the Board voted to increase the bond of the City Treasurer from $10,000 to $25,000.

The City Clerk also reported that the assessment list for the opening and widening of Sycamore Canyon road had been filed with him by the Street Superintendent. No action was taken, but under the usual course this list will remain with the City Clerk for thirty days subject to the filing of objections by property owners.

There being no further business, the Board adjourned until its regular session Thursday evening.

VISITING IN GLENDALE

Mrs. O. P. Snyder of Brand boulevard is having the pleasure of entertaining her nephew, Dr. H. V. Moore of Portland, Oregon, who is quite insistent that his aunt shall return with him and spend the summer in Portland. Mrs. Snyder has been quite ill for two weeks and will probably yield to his wishes, as she needs a change of scene and air.

RENEWALS WANTED

LOCAL RED CROSS CHAPTER ASKING THAT MEMBERSHIPS BE CONTINUED

Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker has been ill for a few days and Mrs. H. E. Betz has been filling her place at Red Cross headquarters in the sending out of notices to renew memberships. Those whose subscriptions expire this month are asked to call at headquarters and leave cheques with the cashier, Mrs. Blackburn.

A beautiful calico patchwork bedspread, quilted by hand and lined with old-fashioned cross-bar muslin, has been donated to the Glendale Red Cross Chapter by Mrs. E. Corsland of 835 San Rafael street, and is on exhibition in its work room. It will probably be placed in the Red Cross Shop at 318 Brand boulevard for sale.

Changes have been made in the work room at Red Cross headquarters on Brand boulevard by which its space is about equally divided between the Surgical Dressings department and the work for the Hospital Garments section. The knitting department has moved to the front of the building and now has quarters adjoining the office of Vice Chairman Lawshe. In this department Mrs. Lawshe and Mrs. Moulton are wool dispensers and receive garments when they are returned, as everything which goes through the department is now weighed in and weighed out in accordance with instructions from National headquarters. Mrs. A. Barnes and Mrs. Helen Campbell have been added to the corps of instructors.

Mrs. Sadler, who was in charge of hospital garment work Monday, reports that a large amount of finished work has been brought in within the past few days by outside workers, chiefly pajamas and bedshirts. The department is now concentrating on surgical aprons.

Mrs. O. A. Burchfield was instructor in the surgical dressings department Monday and was assisted by the following ladies: Mesdames Munn, Anna Jenkins, M. G. Musser Eva Bolen, C. E. Case, C. N. Erling, Nellie Scott, Art H. Dibbern, S. K. Dorr, Iris F. Kilborn, Tania W. Brown, O. T. Walker, E. Riskin, F. A. Flint, H. A. Black, G. C. Love, R. P. Jodon, Mary E. Chester.

BAKERS MOTOR TO SAN JACINTO AND HEMET TO VIEW QUAKE RUINS

Attorney and Mrs. Frederick Baker and Frederick, Jr., drove to Hemet and San Jacinto Monday to view the devastation wrought by Sunday's earthquake. They left Glendale about half past ten Monday forenoon and made the trip by way of Perris to Hemet, then on to San Jacinto and returned by Relief Hot Springs, thus taking in a wide stretch of the country most seriously affected by the quake.

In speaking of the trip Mrs. Baker said: "After leaving Perris and nearing Hemet we began to see signs of devastation. In some places there were cracks in the road, while at others there were ridges. Where the ground was cracked in one place it was pushed up in another. It was difficult to know just how deep the depressions had been as so many machines had been over the road. While it was disagreeable riding, we had no trouble. although at once place we made a detour to avoid the crevices in the road.

"At Hemet the buildings were badly damaged but not razed to the ground as they are in San Jacinto. In the former city, cornices have fallen from the bank buildings, chimneys have fallen, windows are broken and foundations have collapsed. At both places the Home Guards are in charge and the way they are handling the crowds is marvelous. Trained traffic men in a large city could do no better.

"Between Hemet and San Jacinto the roads were badly cracked. Here and there was a house with the roof or chimney fallen, the porch caved in or the foundation wrecked. At many places the people had moved their beds into the yard and had slept there. In San Jacinto one large business block that had sheltered several stores and the postoffice was flat on the ground. The postoffice had been moved to the library building, which was damaged but not destroyed. This business block had been damaged in an earthquake nineteen years ago. The walls were standing after the shock and they had been repaired.

"Practically all the business part of San Jacinto has been leveled. The homes are more or less damaged. In many cases the foundations have collapsed, allowing the houses to rest on the ground. The quake seemed to go in streaks. On one street practically every building would be damaged, while on the next street no damage was apparent."

Mrs. Baker said the streets were lined with machines and at one place they witnessed an accident and were able to give assistance to the injured. She was very much impressed with the importance of everyone being familiar with First Aid treatment. They made the entire trip in just twelve hours, stopping in Ontario both going and coming.

NEW BUILDING ON BRAND BOULEVARD

Citizens interested in the upbuilding of the city will learn with pleasure that a substantial building of concrete construction is to be erected for Chris Smith of this city by C. W. Kent and Son at the corner of Colorado street and Brand boulevard. It will have a floor space of 50x100 feet and will cost about $5000.

The Western Auto Electric Company, now located at 437 West Broadway, will be the tenants. Though they have been established in Glendale but little more than a year, their business has developed beyond their expectations, and they now desire a location which will be permanent. They are agents for the well-known Willard batteries and also for the Auto Electric Light Generator and Starter systems. They make a business of selling and repairing electric batteries and accessories. This new building will occupy a place where the oil station now stands at the southeast corner of the intersection.

WAR LECTURE

A lecture on war conditions in France will be given Friday evening at 8 o'clock by Mrs. Smallpage, a favorite speaker sent out from Los Angeles Red Cross headquarters, who did strenuous service in France and thoroughly understands the problems of the war. She is a woman of pronounced and uncompromising patriotism and an interesting speaker. The lecture will take place at the home of Mrs. F. L. Kinnear at 1510 Stocker street, this city, and will be supplemented by a musical program. A silver offering will be taken for the wool fund of the British Ambulance Society.

RAID SUBMARINE BASES

BRITISH BLOW UP CONCRETE-FILLED SHIPS TO BLOCK ENTRANCE TO ENEMY NAVAL BASES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, April 23.—British naval forces in a daring raid on German submarine bases at Ostend and Zeebrugge today blew up five concrete-filled ships in the channel to block the egress of enemy craft.

"German destroyer and submarine bases at Ostend and Zeebrugge were raided by our naval forces this morning with a reasonable measure of success," the Admiralty announced today.

An auxiliary vessel and five obsolete cruisers took part in the raid. Five of these were filled with concrete and were grounded, abandoned and blown up.

"An enemy destroyer was torpedoed and two of our block ships blown up at the entrance of Zeebrugge harbor," Admiral Geddes, First Lord of the Admiralty, announced in the House of Commons today.

"It is too early to say what results were obtained at Ostend," he said.

YOUNG MEN WANTED

SECRETARY BAKER SAYS MEN OF ACTION, NOT OLDER MEN, NEEDED TO WIN THE WAR

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Men of action—young men—are needed for America to win the war.

This is the belief that Secretary of War Baker expressed to the House Military Committee today.

He added that his experience and observation abroad had convinced him that the success of the United States in this war depended upon the young men rather than the older ones.

This statement is regarded as an indication that Secretary Baker disapproves of the increase in the draft age to 40, 45 or 50.

Baker was not questioned as to whether or not he thinks sufficient men can be obtained without increasing the draft age.

Although optimistic over the general situation, Secretary Baker emphasized the point that to end the war America must throw all her resources—men and materials—into the fighting area in great quantities.

HINDU SHOT IN COURT ROOM

RAM SINGH, DEFENDANT IN HINDU REVOLT PLOT TRIAL KILLS RAM SHANDRA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Ram Singh, defendant in the Hindu revolt plot trial here, shot and killed Ram Shandra in the court room at noon today. United States Marshal Hollohan then shot and killed Singh.

Singh fired three shots from an automtaic pistol at Shandra and then fired three more wildly about the court room.

United States Marshal Hollahan rose from his seat beside the defendant and shot Singh dead as he stood with his smoking pistol in his hand.

BRITISH MAKE SLIGHT ADVANCES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, April 23.—Important positions north of Albert were won by successful local operations last night, Field Marshal Haig announced today.

"We took sixty prisoners. A number of enemy prisoners were taken in local fighting in the Robecq sector and near Wytschaete with the result that we advanced. The raid penetrated the enemy line near Sampoux four miles northeast of Arras," Haig's report said.

Hostile artillery is reported in different sections.

BELGIANS SENTENCED TO DEATH

EXECUTED IN GERMANY ON ESPIONAGE CHARGE—MANY MORE ARE BEING TRIED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

AMSTERDAM, April 23.—Twenty-five Belgians tried last week in Germany on the charge of espionage were sentenced to death.

Seven were executed an hour after the sentence was pronounced. Many other trials are proceeding.

The Belgians who were executed sang the national anthem of Belgium as they went to their death.

Among those executed was the Cure of Abbe Moone. A nun was among those sentenced.

THE LINDSAY RECITAL

Edith Lindsay and her little dancers achieved an artistic triumph at the Palace Grand Theatre last night, and incidentally the Glendale Chapter of the Red Cross profited substantially and generously from their efforts, the theatre being filled with Glendale's lovers of artistic and beautiful dancing. A program of thirty numbers was faultlessly presented and enthusiastically received, concerted and solo dancing being cleverly commingled, and originality of costuming contesting with perfection of technique for the favor of the audience.

It was one more instance of the protected and happy children of America contributing their best endeavors toward the welfare and comfort of the gallant avengers of the unprotected and unhappy children of Belgium and France, and the people of Glendale responded in the same spirit in which they have oversubscribed the Liberty Loan and placed Glendale on the honor roll generally.

On this occasion they received their money's worth in delightful entertainment, teeming with studied excellence, childish charm and downright brilliancy. Edith Lindsay added to her already high standing as a dancer and teacher of marked originality, and her mother, Mrs. M. Lindsay, sustained her well established reputation as a skillful manager of dance recitals and designer of stunning costumes; the costumes in the numbers called "The Problem," "The Dance of the Honeybees," "The Russian Kossack Dance of Greeting," and "Roses from the South" being particularly notable and worthy of any Metropolitan production.

The program looked long on paper but—contrary to custom among amateur performances—turned out to be all too brief. Edith Lindsay herself danced "Dream Visions" and, assisted by Mary Adele Prowell, "The Enchanted Princess," both numbers being original conceptions and beautiful in execution, the latter particularly being charmingly brilliant both in theme and demonstration. It was a fairy tragedy, conceived obviously by one who still delights in fairy stories, and presented with the skill of experienced genius in such a youthful mood and spirit of "make-believe," as to stamp it worthy of a place among dance creations of the ultra modern school.

In a number called "A French Doll" Miss Lindsay presented her littlest girl, Barbara Chandler, the tiny dancer, to the delight of the audience emerging from a surprisingly small doll box in the center of the stage, executing a "lifelike" portrayal of a bisque baby and returning without mishap to her cardboard case. Lois Naudain daintily appeared in the "Mignon Gavotte" and the "Grecian Ball Dance," and Jean Oliver—a perfect type for the characters selected—charmingly presented

DEATH OF MRS. WESTLAKE

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Westlake, who for the past ten years have been residents of Glendale at 1458 Oak street, have learned with sorrow of the death of Mrs. Westlake Sunday, April 21st, at the home of her son, Will Westlake, in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Westlake spent the winter with their daughter, Mrs. O. E. Clemens, in San Francisco. From there they journeyed east to Washington, arriving in that city Tuesday morning a week ago, and five days later Mrs. Westlake passed away. For the past year she had been a semi-invalid, but her friends little thought the end would come so soon. The son and daughter mentioned were her only children. Mr. Westlake is a well-known architect and he and his wife made many friends here, by whom Mrs. Westlake was greatly beloved. She will be much missed.

ANNIVERSARY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Goodwin of 142 West Tenth street entertained Saturday evening with an informal dinner in honor of the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Evans. Like the menu, the decorations were simple, a great bowl of red roses and ferns centering the pretty table, perfect in all its appointments. Orange blossoms served as favors appropriately suggestive of the wedding knot. Besides the guests of honor and the host and hostess, covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Stamps, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McFadden and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pearce. Following the dinner a pleasant evening was spent with music and cards.

SERGT. EMERY HERE

Sergt. Owen C. Emery of the Ammunition Train at Camp Lewis arrived in Glendale Monday to spend a ten-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery, 117 South Kenwood street. Sergt. Emery was an attorney seven months ago. Now he is a most enthusiastic soldier and looks the part, appearing very straight and tall and robust. He has just completed his course in the Third Officers' Training School at Camp Lewis and is waiting for two alternatives, either of which will take him into the big game. The government has changed its policy of issuing commissions. The men who have gone through the training school are recommended for certain branches of the service and are commissioned as they are needed. Sergt. Emery has been recommended for the aviation section, but the ammunition train in which he is now may be ordered east before he can be transferred. He will be happy either way. While he prefers the aviation, he feels that the ammunition service is next to that in importance. If he is transferred to the air service he will spend six months in training here before going abroad.

As sergeant of an ammunition train he has charge of four trucks and thirty men. The government is using the Nash-Quad two-ton trucks, front and rear wheel drive, steered from both front and rear. Each truck carries two rifles and every fourth one is equipped with a machine gun. Thirty trucks comprise an ammunition train.

In speaking of the ammunition train Sergt. Emery said: "This branch of the service is as exciting and fully as hazardous as the infantry. The duty of the men is to transfer ammunition from the supply depots to within two miles of the firing line. The trucks are constantly under barrage fire and have practically no protection except from their own artillery. A British officer told one of our officers at Camp Lewis that he was undecided which is the more exciting, the aviation or the ammunition train service.

"I am anxious to get into the aviation for I believe that branch of the service will be the means of ending the war. In a year and a half we will have 25,000 planes over there. When we have reached the point where we are able to throw the Germans out of the air we can reach their supply and ammunition depots and their submarine bases, in other words bring the Germans out of the trenches, then they are beaten.

"Camp Lewis is a very wonderful place," said Sergt. Emery. "We have grown accustomed to the rain. Two jokes that have gone the rounds of the camp are that the government is threatening to make a submarine base of Camp Lewis and that that section has two seasons, the rainy season and August. However, the soil is so constituted that the water is soon carried off, leaving the drill ground in good condition. The camp is located on a large level plain with wooded hills all around. It has been pronounced the best cantonment in the United States by far. There are fewer deaths and less sickness at Camp Lewis than at any other camp.

"Everything possible is being done to preserve the morale and the spirit

PATRIOTIC GLENDALE

RETURNS ON LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE SHOW QUOTA WILL BE MORE THAN DOUBLED

Loyal citizens, and that means all citizens of Glendale, will be proud to know that their municipality has gone over the top to the extent of $200,650. That was the amount subscribed up to Saturday night, and subscriptions have been steadily coming in since that time. The manner in which the district formerly known as Tropico has responded is very gratifying to the Liberty Loan Committee. As a sample, Mr. Lawshe cites the work of one canvassing committeeman to whom cards were given for 35 calls. He brought in 43 subscriptions, and that Mr. Lawshe declares, seems to be the spirit of that section. The workers are keeping on and will not surrender their jobs until every possible bond buyer has been seen. When the field has been thoroughly covered Mr. Lawshe is confident a subscription of $250,000 will have been realized. The fact that more than $200,000 has been secured in a period of about two weeks affords reasonable certainty that the remaining $50,000 will not be lacking.

shown by the men is wonderful While many were discouraged and heartsick when they first went to camp and would have been glad to have turned around and gone home, not one man in a hundred would go home now if he could. They are glad to hear the order to pack up and start eastward. They all want to go and they wanted to stay until the war is over. But they want to get it over and get back. They never think of not coming back. Some, of course, will not come back, but they will have done their duty and those who do come back will be better men."

To the mothers who are worried about the effect upon their boys of the new environment into which they have been placed, Sergt. Emery says: "Uncle Sam treats the boys like a good uncle. He demands obedience but he gives them plenty to eat and wear and plenty of time to sleep, although at first we don't feel that way about it. We are well taken care of and have the physical exercise that hardens and gives us endurance and makes us physically strong men. The officers are splendid men. Those who have not the welfare of their men at heart are the exception. As far as morals are concerned, Uncle Sam is establishing a system to keep his men morally clean. Mothers should know that moral conditions in the American army can never be as they have been in the British and French, as those nations were thrown into war without time for preparation along these lines."

Sergt. Emery says the men are going over there in a spirit of humility. They know what wonderful soldiers nearly five years of war have made the French and and British and they know it will take time for them to grow accustomed to the conditions that will make them as good fighting men.

"I want to give a message from the men in the camps to the home people," he said. "The winning of this war will depend one-third on the front line trenches and two-thirds on the people at home. The men have to feel the backing of the home people if they are to make good soldiers And they are already feeling it in the camps.

"Many of the men are refusing commissions in this country. It is almost impossible not to show a little favoritism in advancing the men in the camps, but on the front it is ability alone that counts, and a commission won in France is something to be proud of."

Sergt. Emery is more than happy to be at home for a short time. He says the Tacoma people are very kind to the soldiers and he has made many dear friends in the seven months he has been at Camp Lewis, but Southern California is the garden spot of the world. He is glad to be home with his family and friends and when he leaves it will be with the expectation of not coming back for two or three years at least.

OBLIGATIONS OF CITIZENS

On Sunday morning at the Congregational church, Rev. W. J. Marsh preached a forceful sermon on the obligations of citizens and nations to one another. He chose as his text, "Have we not all one Father?" from Malachi 2:10.

Every man finds himself surrounded by the likeness of himself. In order to live in peace and progress he must acknowledge certain fixed obligations to his fellows. He finds interdependence of individuals absolutely essential to his well being.

The foundation of these social obligations is the family tie. One of the greatest menaces of our national life today is the prevalence of divorce.

An artificial obligation which is an extension of the family, is the fraternity. In the fraternal order we have an acknowledgment of the Brotherhood of Man outside of the family.

A still wider interdependence of man is illustrated by our citizenship. Our nation, like the family, demands of us that it must be preserved whatever the sacrifice which may be necessary by the individual. Our government today is asking of the individual money, prospects, business, relatives, and life itself, and acknowledging its obligation, the nation is giving all that it asks.

But this is not the limit of our responsibility. There are mutual obligations between nations that we must learn to accept.

For the past centuries nations have been taught that they are a peculiar people. To the Jews the world was made up of Jews and Gentiles; to Greece there were Greeks and Barbarians; to Rome. Romans and Foreigners, and who has not heard the phrase, "The Anglo-Saxon will rule the world"?

Strong nations have always exploited the weak. Even our own country exploited the negro and Indian. Military might has always spelled national right.

But we have now taken upon us the obligation we owe to the weaker nations. The strong must use its strength to bear the burdens of the weak.

War is wrong and, acknowledging the mutual obligations existing between nations, we are warring to end wars.

Today we place the stigma of outlaw upon a nation that has so flagrantly refused to accept its share in the interdependence of nations, and we must fight until such outlawry is destroyed.

As a church we too must acknowledge our world obligations in the way Christ has chosen for us by going into all the world and preaching the Gospel and do our utmost as individuals to help and foster our foreign missions.

The leasing of what may turn out to be very promising oil lands is one of the most important and recent features of the oil industry in the Brea field. The rapidity with which leases are being closed up and the taking of options on properties has become so noticeable that the action bespeaks a tremendous amount of development work for the near future.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of acknowledging the many tokens of kindness and sympathy received on connection with recent tragedy that took from us a loved one. The tributes of flowers and the written and spoken words of love and sympathy go far in relieving the pain of our loss.

Lend The Soldier Boy a Hand

YOUR HAND--MY HAND

Every hand in the land stretched out to help him to VICTORY! That is the way that America is going to win this war. It is the only way she can win it.

We are fighting a United German people. Until every American is backing the boys in the trenches, until every hand in the land is stretched out to help, we cannot expect our army to defeat the German armies strengthened by the toil and sacrifice of the one hundred and fifty million people of Germany and her allies.

This is a war of national resources, and everyone must add his share to America's fighting strength if we are to make our superior resources count. Every hand in the land must be stretched out to help our boys if we would send them over the top to early and certain victory.

Save for the Third Liberty Loan. Invest in the Third Liberty Loan. That is the way to lend a hand. That is the way to make a nation invincible for Freedom and Justice.

Every Bond bought NOW is a direct fighting aid to the boys in the trenches in France.

Personals

The patriotic song, "Just Leave It to Your Uncle Sam," written by Julius Kranz of Glendale, is being played at Grauman's million-dollar theatre this week by the large orchestra.

Mrs. Jeannette Hill of Oakland is the guest of her cousin, Miss Winifred Sadler, at 1454 West Seventh street. She will be here about two weeks and is greatly enjoying the sights.

John Robert White, of 101 South Orange street, is now in New York on his annual trip as the representative of the California Furniture Company, and expects to be away about a month and to visit Philadelphia and other cities of the eastern coast, also some of the eastern camps.

Clem Moore, Roy Masters and M. T. Lee, who, with Mattison B. Jones, last week attended the big Masonic Conclave in San Francisco, have returned and declare it was one of the most successful and profitable gatherings of its kind that the Order has ever held in this state. Conservation was the keynote. The sessions were short and to the point and a large amount of good work was accomplished. All superfluous entertaining and expenditures of time and money were cut out and a large sum was voted for investment in Liberty Loan bonds. Mr. Masters represented the Glendale Unity Chapter and Mr. Moore the local Commandery.

Friends of John Hyde Braly, who has been quite ill, report that he is recuperating most satisfactorily. Monday he was able to see his friends Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Moulton of Los Angeles, who came out to call on him, and he is now able to take automobile rides.

A meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Tropico Presbyterian Church will be held Thursday afternoon, April 25th, at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. F. N. Lang, 230 South Central avenue, who will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. Noble Ripley. The speaker will be Miss McKee, a returned missionary, who will talk on Chosen.

To date Miss Eilen Churchill and Miss Minnie Moulton of Blanche avenue have collected for camp libraries about 9000 volumes. They have personally gathered them from the homes of the donors and delivered them to the Los Angeles City Library to be forwarded to the camps. They say they will continue until they have turned in at least 10,000 books.

"A Gypsy" and the "Ballet Egyptian" without much aid or comfort from the orchestra. Jane Holroyd and Margaret Fox were delightfully Dutch in their "Holland Dance." Kathleen and Dorothy Woods, with characteristic verve, contributed several numbers, and Marjorie McLouth, Barbara Blech and Sarah Chandler, beautifully costumed and cleverly dancing together, were enthusiastically applauded in "The Problem," "In a Garden" and a "Russian Kossack Dance."

Georgia French was undeniably "La Coquette" and Carmen De Rue an equally convincing "Miss Vanity Fair." Marion Mauerhan's beauty and grace shone forth in "Papillon." Charlotte Winsel smilingly and confidently carried the audience with her through the dainty "Cupid's Gavotte."

The solo work of Sarah Chandler in the concerted numbers was ably and artistically performed, and her proficiency in toe dancing, particularly in the closing number, was remarkable. The opening number, "Classical Adagio," led by Miss Chandler, was participated in with much grace by all the Lindsay dancers, including, beside those already mentioned, Dorothy Campbell, Marjorie Barnett, Maurine Strong, Ruth Lane, Marcella Webb, Jane Nicoles, Alice Gaarder, Katherine Guthrie, Norma Lohman, Margaret Duncan, Katherine Wilcox, Margaret Stepling, Doreen Mitchell, Margaret Maguth, Raida Schumaker, Raymond Lee and Lillian Holter, the applause which greeted this number clearly indicating the audience's appreciation of exquisite technique.

The youthful dancers were equally skillful in their presentation of "Manzanillo," "Dance of the Honeybees," "A Tarantelle" and in "Roses from the South," which closed the program.

POSTPONEMENT

The regular monthly meeting of the Columbus avenue P.-T. A. has been postponed for one week. This is because the First District Congress of Mothers holds its annual convention in Fraternal Brotherhood Hall, Los Angeles, Thursday and Friday, April 25th and 26th.

MRS. JOHN ROBERT WHITE,
President, Columbus avenue P.-T. A.

TWO FRIENDS—IN DEATH THEY WERE NOT DIVIDED

Sincere mourners filled the auditoirum of the Glendale Presbyterian church for the services held Saturday morning over the body of Rachel M. Sherer. The W. C. T. U. organization of which she had been a much beloved member, attended in a body and each woman laid a flower upon the casket. A wealth of floral tributes filled the church with fragrance and banked the grave when her remains were laid to rest in Grand View Cemetery. The musical numbers included "Think of the Home Over There," and "Alleluia Song."

The service was conducted by Rev. W. E. Edmonds, whose theme was, "Precious in the Sight of the Lord Is the Death of His Saints." He showed that the death of the saint is a transformation completed, as a flower unfolds or as a sculptor perfects his work. His second thought was that the death of the saint brings us to the climax of life in the things we have said and done. His third thought was that death is the only door which admits to the presence of the Master.

The brief biographical sketch which was given of Miss Sherer's life stated that she was of Quaker parentage and had united with the church at the age of thirteen; that she became a member of the Glendale church in 1896; that she was of stalwart Christian character and true to the principles of her religion.

Dr. William S. Young, Stated Clerk of the Presbytery, and a former pastor of Miss Sherer, contributed a brief talk in appreciation of her character, taking as his text, "That which is within is revealed by that which cometh out," and he also made the closing prayer.

Mrs. Sarah Coleman

During her many years of residence in Glendale Mrs. Sarah Coleman made a large circle of friends, who gathered to pay their last tribute to her memory Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at the Scovern, Letton & Frey parlors. It seemed to those present quite fitting that two women who have been such close companions in life should have entered the Heavenly Home together. Rev. W. E. Edmonds also conducted this service, the text of his brief address being "Wait on the Lord." The hymns sung included "Shall We Gather at the River" and "Rock of Ages." Interment was made in Evergreen Cemetery.

APPRECIATION

Mrs. H. E. Betz wishes to thank the ladies who have efficiently helped her with the ambulance pillow work for the Red Cross Chapter. The shipping of all such supplies has been temporarily suspended as all vessel space is needed for the transport of troops and their equipment. As Mrs. Betz has accumulated quite a stock of pillows, it seemed best to discontinue the work until shipments can be resumed.

GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

GLENDALE AGENTS HELPING MANY NEWCOMERS TO LOCATE IN FOOTHILL HOMES

Some statistical expert working on the data of the last U. S. census has figured it out that the urban population of the country practically changes in personnel every seven years. But if Casa Verdugo is anyway an average suburban community, it can discount the period mentioned for a shift in population by several years. The Glendale real estate agents in particular have been showing all winter and spring an unusually large number of house hunters the attractions near the foothills, and have succeeded in locating many new families to take the place of many departing ones. Among the many changes, the following is only a partial list:

A. N. Fargo of 1420 Lorraine street moved back to Los Angeles and W. T. Ashton of Glendale took his place.

Dr. A. Z. Holmes of 1501 Lorraine street moved to Long Beach and his son-in-law and family, the Lawsons, took his place.

A. W. Gowan of Los Angeles bought the property at 1219 Viola avenue of Mrs. Geo. T. Phalen and Robert von Saxmar became the tenant. He moved out when B. L. Chapman of Los Angeles made an exchange for the property, and R. R. Stubbs of Glendale recently moved in.

Edwin Boothe bought the property at 1212 Viola avenue and was cosily established in a home, when a desire to run a ranch near Wasco caused him to dispose of it and J. R. Carline of Los Angeles moved in. In a short time the ownership changed. Carline moved away somewhere and Frank S. Clohan and family moved in.

Roger P. Jones of 1116 Viola avenue moved to the city and rented his furnished house to Mrs. M. Cadd. After disposing of her store business at Central avenue and Stocker street, Mrs. Cadd moved to Glendale, and the other day Mr. Jones moved his furniture away and left the house vacant. Mrs. A. V. Williams, the tenant of Mr. Jones at 1112 Viola avenue, also moved to Los Angeles.

The house at 1121 Viola avenue becoming vacant, Mrs. Mary Dietzel moved in from La Habra to be near her sister, Mrs. Boothe. Mrs. Dietzel's husband is in India employed by the British government as an engineer in the oil fields of that country. Some of Mr. Dietzel's letters go 'round the world and pass through the hands of several censors before reaching home.

Dr. J. E. Eckles, outgrowing the residence at 1124 Viola venue, on April 1st moved to the corner of Brand boulevard and Milford street, Glendale. The next day C. A. McCall and family, of Los Angeles, moved in.

Mrs. Gertrude L. Kinnear of Vancouver, B. C., occupying the premises at 809 Melrose avenue, made a change to 1610 Stocker street and in a few days Mrs. E. A. Eckman of Glendale moved in.

Finding Harry Blumenthal of Los Angeles for a tenant, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Owen moved north near one of the large electrical water power plants.

C. U. Mandis of 1011 Melorse avenue moved back to a location in Glendale nearer the plant of the Glendale Milling Co. W. E. McCormick without delay leased the house and this week moved his family in from Pomona. Mr. McCormick has a position with the S. P. Ry. Co. in Los Angeles.

Jas W. Cooper sold his home at 1017 Melrose avenue to H. A. Doner of Glendale. The balance of population between was not disturbed as they passed each other moving on the road.

Henry C. Lynn sold his place at 1021 Melrose avenue to J. B. Doner of Glendale. A Texas family with a very numerous brood soon arrived and occupied the house. They spread all over the neighborhood and the odds were so strong against little Johnnie Corcoran living next door at 1125 Melrose avenue that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Corcoran thought discretion was the better part of valor and so moved to Glendale. But that didn't matter, for C. L. Osborne soon moved his family over from San Rafael avenue and inhabited the premises. Then the Texas family pulled up and moved way off somewhere, taking little "Oliver" and all his tiny brothers and sisters along too.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weetman offered their California bungalow at 1103 Melrose avenue for rent when they moved over to La Ramada to run the place, to Frank Sullivan. While living there Mr. Sullivan became a widower and is today leaving for Corona, where he will manage the work on a citrus ranch.

Frank Doyle and family shared the bungalow at 1113 Melrose avenue with his brother-in-law, Harry Close, both being young Englishmen not so long away from the old home in Britain. When the call to arms reached the ears of Albion's sons, they probably preferred to enlist from some other district, so they moved away. But Ura U. Troyer of Oregon was pleased and so moved his family from Los Angeles, where they had been shifting before locating permanently. Their little Ura U., Jr., thought it the right place to begin the journey of life, so he opened his eyes first on the big round world on Tuesday morning, the 17th inst. His arrival also pleased "little sister" very much. Mr. Troyer, who transferred from an Oregon bank to a position with the Farmers' and Merchants Bank of Los Angeles, finds himself in the same class with his neighbor, L. F. Drake, directly across the street, who is a teller in the Hellman Commercial and Savings Bank at Sixth and Main streets, Los Angeles.

Then across the way the large Walton poultry ranch which had been run some time by Mr. and Mrs. Barnes was transferred by them to Mr. Taylor, hailing from North Dakota. He lives in Los Angeles but finds time to auto to the yards often to see how the White Leghorn biddies enjoy the real wheat he ships from his 1000-acre Dakota ranch to feed them.

S. B. Shaner of 1120 Melrose avenue traveled the route to Los Angeles early and late for a year and decided that ranching was a better proposition. So they made a deal for a 40-acre ranch near Wasco, and moved onto it. This vacancy leaves only two houses at the north end empty, to be divided up between the many lookers.

Frank Weimers was married and rented the furnished house at 1507 Lorraine. After a few months' sojourn they passed on and F. W. Griggs and family moved in.

J. A. Appfel, owing to the death of his mother, vacated the premises at 1125 Melrose avenue and removed to Los Angeles. A young married couple from Los Angeles soon filled the vacancy and prettily furnished the home. Three brief months brought a business change and the Moodeys left for northern California. But fate was preparing the way for the occupancy of the residence by a descendant of California's distinguished Spanish governor, Pico, since the present lessee is Leonias M. Dods of Los Angeles. Mrs. Dods is a granddaughter of Governor Pico. They chose the foothill section because of its country comforts and city conveniences.

The business property at 1201-1207 North Central avenue, after a vacancy of some months, was altered and refitted for the Bree Sanatorium, which occupied it January 1. A satisfactory business has been established specializing in nervous rheumatic and blood diseases.

De Keyser Bros. sold their pigeon and poultry ranch located at 924 Dorothy Drive to John Holland, a recent newcomer.

The present writer could continue the foregoing list indefinitely except for limited space, by following up the changes on any particular street, but will stop at this point by noting that Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rees after spending the better part of last year on a large alfalfa ranch near Perris, have returned to their home on San Rafael avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Warren ofNorth Central avenue have returned from a trip to the old home near Knoxville, Tennessee, where they were called by the last illness of Mr. Warren's mother.

Mr. and Mrs F. N. Chandler and son Lawrence of 1116 Melrose avenue have just returned from a ten-day auto trip in their new Marion-Handley six. They proceeded south to San Diego, thence eastward over the mountains to El Centro, Imperial county. Near this place Mr. Chandler inspected his leased ranch of 160 acres, 35 acres of which is planted to Egyptian cotton. Mr. Chandler's share of the cotton crop alone, at the present price of cotton should return over $13,000, net.

Master Ennis Olmsted of 1121 Melrose avenue gave a birthday party recently to his many young friends.

With few exceptions, every foot of available garden and farm land in the Casa Verdugo section has been put to use for the raising of food under the war food conservation rules With favorable growing conditions throughout the season, large returns should result.

DRY ROT OF POTATOES

The attention of potato growers and shippers is called to the heavy and unnecessary losses to potatoes from decay in shipments now arriving in the markets of the Central States, particularly in Early Ohios originating in the Great Plains and Rocky Mountain States, in a recent "News Letter" issued by the Department of Agriculture, which states further:

"It is not uncommon for the inspectors of the United States Department of Agriculture to find from 10 to 50 per cent of the contents of a car unfit for market on account of powdery dry-rot (Fusarium), and the reports are becoming more frequent and the losses more severe as the storage season progresses.

"The remedy for this situation must be applied at the point of origin, by sorting out all potatoes showing any trace of decay, cuts, or bruises, and by careful handling to prevent further injury.

"Powdery dry-rot is caused by a fungus or mold which attacks potatoes, as a rule, after harvesting, and then only when they are bruised or cut by careless handling.

"Potatoes should be handled carefully and not as though they were cobblestones. The potato is a living thing, endowed with a protective skin, which it is able to keep intact if given a fair chance. Breaks in this protective skin, caused by deep peeling or feathering, prevalent in immature stock, by tools or other agents, are the natural points of entry for this mold. Once it gets into a tuber and is given proper temperature and moisture conditions, the tuber is subject to complete decay and is a source of infection for all its neighbors.

"The protection of the crop should begin at the time of harvesting, to insure against any injury that will break the skin of the potato. Growers should also bear in mind that this type of rot has been prevalent for years and that storage houses and baskets, barrels, and other old containers are likely to be covered with spores capable of infecting the new crop. It will therefore be a wise precaution to clean out all rubbish and refuse from the preceding crop and to disinfect the houses and their contents by washing or spraying, before any potatoes are put in, with a solution of bluestone, 2 pounds to 50 gallons of water, or formaldehyde, 1 pint to 12 to 15 gallons of water.

"After the potatoes are stored they should be kept cool and well ventilated. Do not store in deep piles.

THEY KNOW BEANS

As a proof of what schoolboy farmers can do under efficient direction and management, the following account of the production of a crop of beans by pupils of the El Monte Union High School under their school principal, L. E. Babcock, is submitted as published in the El Monte Gazette by Mr. Babcock:

Following is a statement showing the business details of the crop of beans raised by the students of the E. M. U. H. S. during the past year.

The first step was to organize a group of the boys known as the "Bean Growers' Association of the E. M. U. H. S." The next move was to secure a piece of land suitable for the purpose; this we obtained from F. C. Herbert, who donated to us the use of ten acres of excellent land and to his kindness and generosity we owe our success.

We planted our beans the 2nd of June and completed our delivery of the crop to the Puente Mercantile Co. the sixth of October.

We borrowed $150.00 from the Southern County Bank, paying interest at 6%, so that we could pay cash for the necessary expenses.

Cash borrowed	$150.00
Tot. net income from crop	871.71
Total	$1021.71

Our expenses were:

Russell Wilkerson, team wk.	$ 16.40
Ercel Cleminson, team wk.	18.00
Ed Cash, team wk.	18.00
R. E. Taylor, threshing	60.90
Paul Barton, labor	55.60
Russell Cowan, labor	21.89
Earald Barton, labor	22.60
Fred Prouty, labor	2.64
Herbert Rhodes, labor	4.29
Jule Coffey, labor	2.64
Lowell Arnold, labor	5.28
Ross Dinsmoor, labor	36.46
Rufus Choate, labor	33.60
Goldie Oliver, labor	4.62
Verna Douglas, labor	4.62
Max Castruita, labor	1.25
Collin Southerland, labor	4.90
Bruce Southerland, labor	4.62
Carl Sloan, labor	1.34
Harry Evans, labor	8.77
Harold Weaver, labor	4.01
William Pierson, labor	6.55
Blanchard Slaughter, labor	2.64
A. O. Nelson, labor	25.26
Loan and interest	152.92
Cost of bonds	502.00
Total expenditures	$1022.10

We now have in the vault of the Southern County Bank ready for delivery to the Board of Trustees of the E. M. U. H. S. $500.00 in Liberty Bonds. These bonds the boys will make as a present through the Board of Trustees to the taxpayers of E. M. U. H. S. District as soon as they are received from the government.

We had a good time raising the crop and every boy and girl who worked received 30c to 35c per hour with a 10% bonus which brought the wages up to 33c and 38.5c per hour. We are still organized for the coming season and have planted ten acres of spinach. Respectfully,
